The e-bus was introduced at the Pune Alternate Fuel Conclave (AFC) by Maharashtra's Minister for Tourism and Environment, Aaditya Thackeray, alongside Sudhir Mehta, Chairman of EKA and Pinnacle Industries Limited.

- The EKA E9 is claimed to be the country's first completely 'Made-In-India' 9metre pure electric, zero-emission bus.

About EKA E9 Bus :

- The E9, according to EKA, is the first battery-electric bus with a new streamlined vehicle design, optimised power and range, and a lower Total Cost of Ownership (TCO) than existing Internal Combustion Engine (ICE) powered buses, ensuring sustainability and profitability for all stakeholders.
- The battery system is safe, durable, and efficient, with a powerful Li-Ion battery suitable for city operations. Battery system manufacturing is a fallout of the Production Linked Incentive Scheme.
- EKA's E9 bus creates a worldwide platform for clean, efficient, and lucrative public transportation which promotes electric mobility to meet their zero-emissions goals.
- KA's E9 bus is an example to highlight the priority in electrification of commercial vehicles, public transportation, and, most notably, the bus industry, is essential to India's decarbonization strategy.

National Commission for Women organized a workshop on 'Capacity Building and Sensitization Program for Media Personnel'

National Commission for Women (NCW) organized a workshop on 'Capacity Building and Sensitization Program for Media Personnel' on 18th May, 2022 to focus on issues related to women and portrayal of women in media. This workshop was divided into three technical sessions; 'Gender-sensitive indicators for media in media operations and content', 'Challenges faced by women media professionals' and 'Role of media in empowerment of women'.

The 30th Foundation Day of the National Commission for Women was celebrated on 31 January 2022. About five decades ago, the Committee on the Status of Women in India (CSWI) recommended the establishment of a 'National Commission for Women' for monitoring grievances and accelerating the socio-economic development of women.

The National Commission for Women was established in January 1992 as a statutory body under the National Commission for Women Act, 1990.

The commission was constituted on January 31, 1992 under the chairmanship of 'Jayanti Patnaik'.

The commission consists of a chairman, a member secretary and five other members. The Chairperson of the National Commission for Women is nominated by the Central Government. Presently Ms. Rekha Sharma is the Chairperson of National Commission for Women.

Bangladesh offers Chittagong port to India for Usage Purposes

The Prime Minister of Bangladesh offered India the use of Chittagong Port in Bangladesh. Access to Chittagong port will benefit the northeastern states of India such as Assam, Tripura, Meghalaya and Mizoram. Chittagong Port, the major port of Bangladesh is built on the Karnaphuli River. It is the busiest port along the coast of the Bay of Bengal. It is also used for transportation by India, Nepal and Bhutan.

Before independence, the northeastern part of India had access to the port of Chittagong through the Brahmaputra and Barak river systems. After Partition in 1947, India's northeast lost access to the sea. Chittagong port was moved to East Pakistan and India had lost a major trade route. However, India continued to use the ports of East Pakistan until the 1965 war with Pakistan. After that, the Northeast had to depend on the 'chicken neck' (a narrow strip in West Bengal) for trading. However, in recent years, India has had access to some ports in Bangladesh, including the port of Chittagong. Further revival of pre-partition trade routes will improve trade for the Northeast region and generate revenue for Bangladesh.

In March 2021, the Prime Ministers of India and Bangladesh inaugurated the Maitri Setu Bridge. It was built on the Feni river and bridged the distance between Tripura and Chittagong port. Road infrastructure is also being improved in Bangladesh connecting Dawki in Meghalaya, Sutarkandi in Assam and Akhaura in Tripura. A plan to build a bridge over the Khouthlangtuipui river for faster access to Mizoram's Chittagong port

INS Surat and INS Udayagiri warships were launched

India's Defense Minister Rajnath Singh launched the warship INS Udayagiri and the Indian Navy's destroyer INS Surat in Mumbai. INS 'Surat' is the fourth and last stealth destroyer to be commissioned under the 'Project 15B' programme. INS 'Udayagiri' has been commissioned under the 'Project 17A' warship programme.

Both these warships have been designed and built by the Directorate of Naval Design at Mazagon Dock Shipbuilders Limited (MDL), Mumbai.

Project 15B: It is a Government of India program under which the next generation stealth guided-missile destroyers for the Indian Navy are being built at Mazagon Docks Limited, Mumbai. In 2021, the first ship under this project was commissioned.

Project 17A: These ships being commissioned under Project 17A are an improvement over the P17 frigates and are equipped with improved weapons, improved stealth features, advanced platform management systems and improved sensors. Under this programme, seven ships are being built, out of which 4 are being built by MDL and 3 by Garden Reach Shipbuilders and Engineers Limited (GRSE).

First Firing of First Indigenously Developed Naval Anti-Ship Missile: The Indian Navy successfully conducted the first firing of the first indigenously developed Naval Anti-Ship Missile from a 42B helicopter. This was done from the Integrated Test Range at Balasore. The missile followed the desired maritime skimming trajectory and reached the designated target with utmost precision, validating the control, guidance and mission algorithms. The Naval antiship missile has been developed in collaboration with Defense Research and Development Organization-DRDO. The missile employed several innovative technologies, including an indigenously developed launcher for the helicopter.

John Lee elected next leader of Hong Kong

Former security chief John Lee Ka-chiu has recently been elected as the next leader of Hong Kong. The move is widely regarded as a move by the Chinese government to tighten its grip on the city.

Carrie Lam is being replaced by John Lee after the city's chief executive election. From July 1, 2022,

Lee will begin his five-year term as chief executive of the city.

In 2019, he was serving as security secretary when the police launched a violent crackdown on pro-democracy protests. The protests began after a controversial bill was announced that would allow a person to be extradited to mainland China. Lee allowed Hong Kong's police force to use rubber bullets, tear gas, water and even ammunition at certain times on all those protesting.

In the month of August 2020, the US imposed economic sanctions against Hong Kong to curtail its autonomy as well as restrict freedom of expression.

The Hong Kong National Party was banned under the supervision of Li. It was the first party to support independence for Hong Kong after the British handed over the region to China in 1997. This party was banned in the year 2018. The party was accused by Li of spreading hatred against mainland China.

Eli had passed the extradition bill, due to which he faced a lot of criticism. However, during his election campaign, he changed his tune regarding the bill, saying there was no need to talk about the extradition bill anymore. After protests, the bill was not implemented in its entirety.

European Political Community

French President Emmanuel Macron believes that a "European Political Community" should be established which would be much broader than the current European Union (EU). The political community will also include nations that are not members of the European Union.

Currently, there are 27 members of the European Union.

The main goal of the political community would be to maintain the stability of the region. It will also consider moving the EU, as relying on it alone will not be enough.

This community will allow democratic European countries to cooperate in a new political space in the areas of energy, security, infrastructure investment, transport, freedom of movement.

Becoming a member of the European Union is a long process. This often takes years or even decades, due to the strict EU membership criteria. This community would allow parallel entry rather than undermining stringent standards. This will provide a quick way for any country wishing to join the bloc. Even countries that had previously dropped out can rejoin.

Marcos Jr wins the 2022 presidential election in the Philippines

NASA's Endurance Mission

A rocket carrying NASA's Endurance Mission was recently launched.

Mission Objective: It aims to find out why planet Earth supports life, while other planets like Mars and Venus do not. A wet planet like Earth is suitable for the existence of life. Venus was once a watery planet but later dried up for unknown reasons. If we understand why Venus dried up, our knowledge of habitable planets would increase.

Under the Endurance Mission, the global electric potential of the Earth will be measured. This electrical potential of the Earth is believed to be very weak and thus can support life.

Measuring electrical potential In 2016, the European Space Agency (ESA) Venus Express mission detected a 10-volt electric potential around Venus. If the electric potential is present, the positively charged particles will be pulled away from the planet's surface. Thus, the electric potential around Venus would have pulled the positively charged components of the water, which may have caused Venus to dry out over time. Venus and Earth both have an ionosphere (the electrically charged outer layer of its atmosphere). That's why scientists want to know if the Earth has the same electric potential. If there is electric potential, they want to investigate why there is water in the earth.

The United Nations Children's Fund (UNICEF) has released its UNICEF Child Alert May 2022 edition, titled "Severe Wasting: An Overlooked Child Survival Emergency."

According to UNICEF, India has the world's most severely wasted children under the age of five, with $5,772,472$ affected children.

What Is Severe Wasting?

- Wasting is the most visible and fatal form of malnutrition, described as a low weight-for-height ratio. The most dangerous form is severe wasting, often known as severe acute malnutrition.
- It is caused by a lack of nutritional diet and frequent occurrences of infections such as diarrhoea, measles, and malaria that deplete a child's immunity.

Key Alerts:

- In terms of countries with the highest number of children under the age of five affected by severe wasting, Indonesia ranks second with 812,564 severely wasted children. Pakistan, Nigeria, and Bangladesh ranked third, fourth, and fifth, respectively.
- South Asia continues to be the hub of severe wasting, with statistics that surpass Sub-Saharan Africa. At least 7.7 million children are affected in the South Asia region.
- Marriage and child-bearing before the age of 18 among adolescent girls with high levels of anaemia and underweight indicate that severe wasting is a generational concern.

ILO Releases Ninth Edition of ILO Monitor on The World of Work

According to a new report from the International Labour Organization (ILO) titled "ILO Monitor on The World of Work-Ninth Edition", several worldwide crises are threatening global labour market recovery, with increasing inequalities within and between countries.

- Global growth is projected to reach just 3.6 % in 2022 , which is 0.8 % points lower than January 2022 projections.
- Multiple economic crises, such as inflation, particularly in energy and food prices; financial instability; potential debt distress; and global supply chain disruption, aggravated by the Ukraine conflict, may worsen the number of hours worked in 2022.

Key Messages from The ILO Monitor on The World of Work – Ninth Edition:

- The number of hours worked globally decreased in the first quarter of 2022 and remains 3.8 % lower than the fourth quarter of 2019 . (The pre-crisis benchmark). This implies that about $11.2$ crores(112 million) jobs may have been lost over this time.
- While high-income countries witnessed a recovery in hours worked, Low & Lower-middle-income economies had a 3.6 % and 5.7 % gap respectively, in the first quarter of 2022 , when compared to the pre-crisis benchmark.

- In the first quarter of 2022 , China's recent containment measures accounted for 86 % of the global decline in hours worked.
